

HOW DO YOU ATTACH

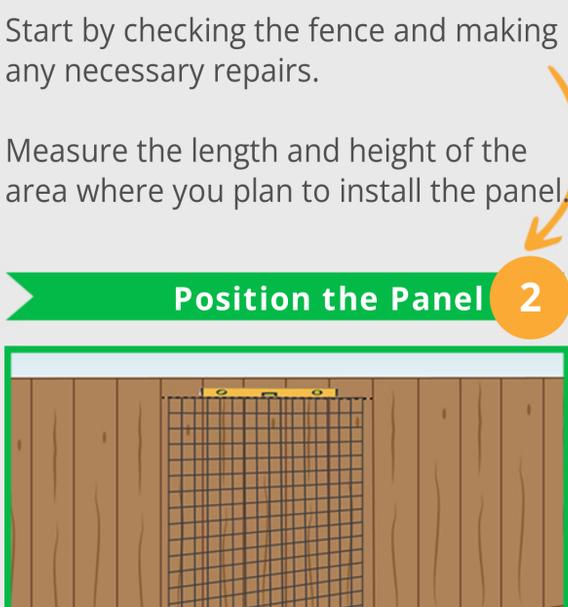

Trellis to a Fence

FIX DIRECTLY TO FENCE

What You'll Need:

- Protective gloves
- Cattle panels
- Staples
- Level
- Tape measure
- Hammer

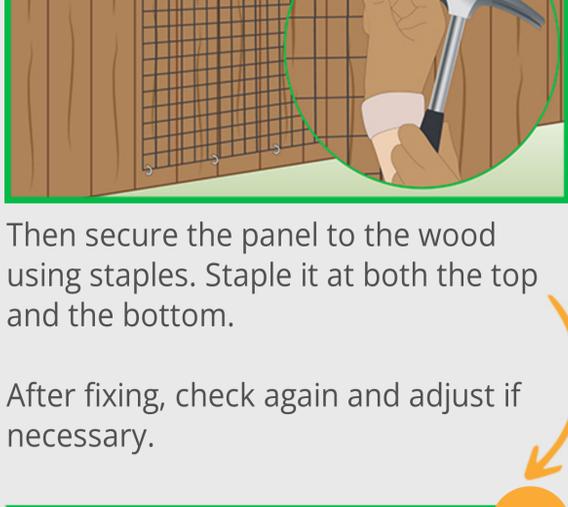

1 Prepare and Measure

Start by checking the fence and making any necessary repairs.

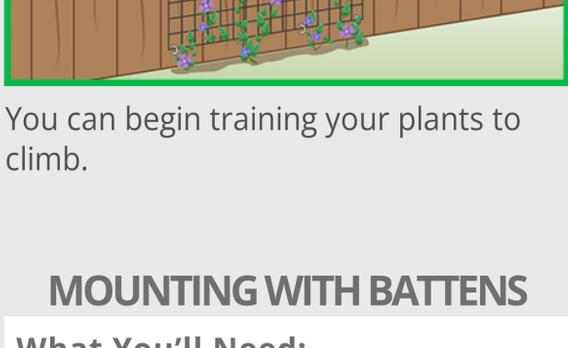

Measure the length and height of the area where you plan to install the panel.

2 Position the Panel

Mark a straight line, position the panel, and make sure it is level.

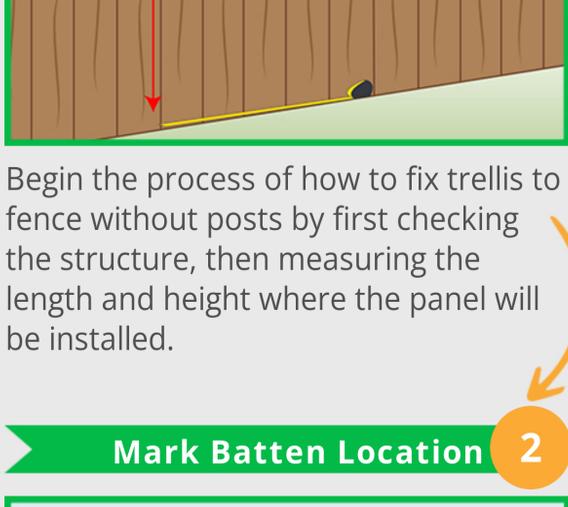

3 Staple into Place

Then secure the panel to the wood using staples. Staple it at both the top and the bottom.

After fixing, check again and adjust if necessary.

4 Train Plants

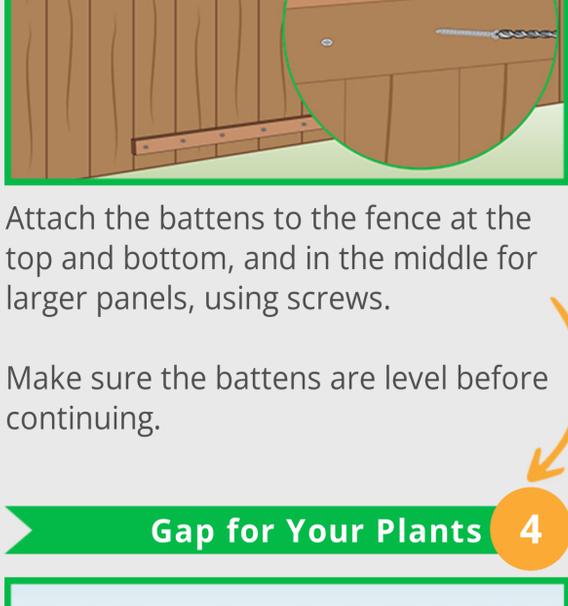

You can begin training your plants to climb.

MOUNTING WITH BATTENS

What You'll Need:

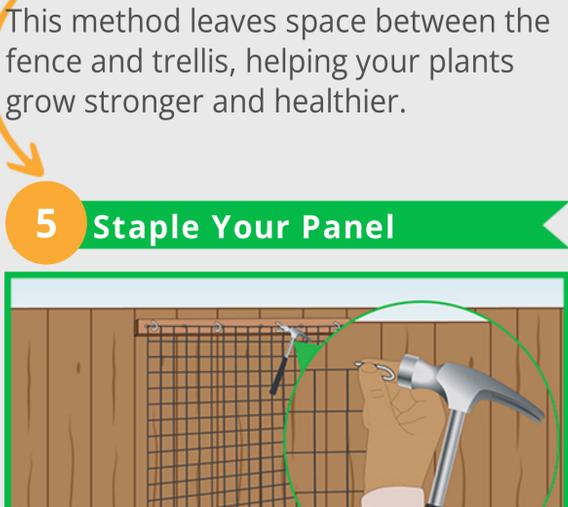

- Protective gloves
- Cattle panel
- Staples
- Screws
- Tape measure
- Level
- Hammer
- Drill

1 Plan & Measure

Begin the process of how to fix trellis to fence without posts by first checking the structure, then measuring the length and height where the panel will be installed.

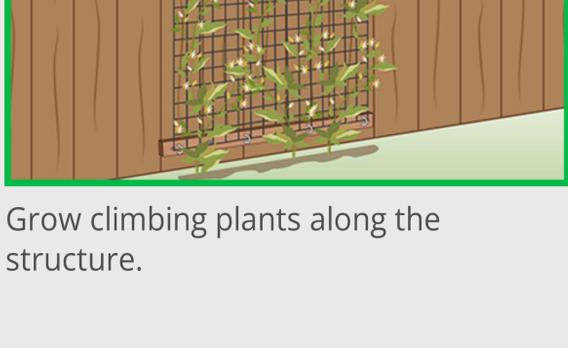

2 Mark Batten Location

Mark the positions where you will install the battens.

Use a level to make sure your markings are straight.

3 Attach the Battens

Attach the battens to the fence at the top and bottom, and in the middle for larger panels, using screws.

Make sure the battens are level before continuing.

4 Gap for Your Plants

This method leaves space between the fence and trellis, helping your plants grow stronger and healthier.

5 Staple Your Panel

Next, attach the trellis to the battens using staples.

6 Grow Climbing Plants

Grow climbing plants along the structure.

ON TOP OF A FENCE

What You'll Need:

- Protective gloves
- Wooden trellis panels
- Screws
- Tape measure
- Level
- Drill

1 Measure and Plan

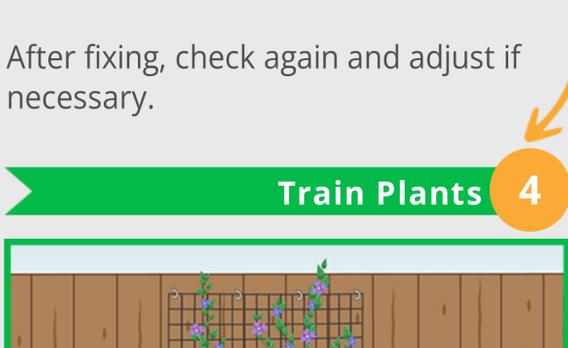

Measure and mark where the trellis will go, deciding whether to install a single panel or cover the entire line.

2 Position Your Panel

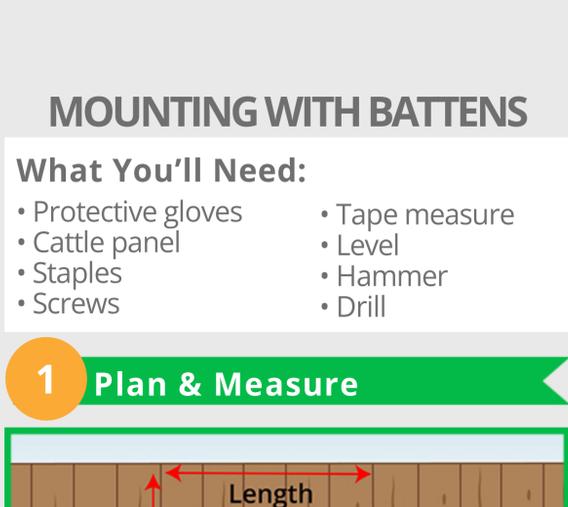

Place each wooden panel on top of the line one at a time.

3 Secure Wooden Panels

In the process of how do you attach trellis to a fence, screw the wooden panels firmly into place.

4 Climb Plants

Once installed, your climbing plants will grow upward and naturally fill the space.
